

AMN-1706
Nov 14, 2017

Notification of New Products

Dear valued customer,

We are pleased to announce that we will we released the new surface temperature probes
“Model SX series” on November 17, 2017.

1 . Product : “Model SX series”

Model SX series is a high accurate surface temperature probe with contact support function.

High accurate measurement became easier by adding the contact support function to Model S series of the high class model.

2 . Features :

- Head part inclining in all directions (360 degree)

As the head part follows the object, it is possible to high accurate measure more easily.

- High durability

Model SX series realize a extreme durability to the severe temperature

On the metallic surface at 300℃ : more than 100,000 contacts

On the metallic surface at 800℃ : more than 60,000 contacts

- High response time

1 second by the metallic surface

- High accuracy and Test report

For high accurate measurement, The model SX series are attached the test report by our calibration system.

3 . Release date : November 17, 2017

4 . Price : Please ask our distributors or local dealers in your area.

5 . Availability :

Pipe length 500 mm or less : 1week

Pipe length 600 mm or more : 2weeks

6 . Repair : Repairable

Yours sincerely,

Koji Senbokuya

Director

Sales Department

ANRITSU METER CO.,LTD.